South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From THURSDAY February 20th, to THURSDAY February 27th, 1755.

LONDON, Nov. 14.

WE hear that the Ruſſian ambaſſador has lately had ſeveral conferences with the ſecretary of ſtate, for the northern department, which turned on the difference that has ariſen between Ruſſia, and the Ottoman Porte about the building of Elizabeth fort near Oczakow. The grand Signor, who appears to be very uneaſy about this matter, has, it is ſaid, complained of it to the Britiſh court as a violation of treaties: But anſwer has been made to his ſublime highneſs, that Ruſſia had no intention to give him any umbrage by erecting that fort, which is at a great diſtance from his frontiers; and that, beſides, this ſtep could by no means be conſidered as an infraction of treaties, &c.

Our correſpondent at Paris acquaints us, that they wait impatiently to ſee the effects of the journey of a certain younng prince into Italy, and that they begin already to whiſper ſomething of a new alliance with the court of Turin.

The wager which lord Powerſcourt, of the kingdom of Ireland, laid with the duke of Orleans, that he would ride on his own horſes from Fontainbleau to Paris, which is forty-two Engliſh miles, in two hours, was for 1000 Louis d'Ors. The king was pleaſed to order the marhalſea guards to clear the way, which were lined with crouds of Pariſians, and to be preſent when my lord ſet out. He was to mount only three horſes; but did it with two; both which, however he killed. He performed the wager in one hour 37 minutes and 22 ſeconds of time. This bet makes ſo much noiſe at Paris, that even the ſcullions leaves their kettles on the fire, to calculate how long it would take to ride round the world, on lord Powerſcourt's horſes, with the Swiſs doctor's powder in one's pocket.

Letters by yeſterday's French mail tell us, that lord Powerſcourt has laid a bet, that he will ride from Paris to Calais (which is 210 Engliſh miles) in nine

'been in a battle.' After diſmiſſing the officer, his majeſty went through the remainder of the exerciſe at the head of the regiment. It was a very fine ſight; but the diſgrace of the officer deprived me of part of my pleaſure: He is really a fine perſon, and univerſally beloved."

Private letters from Paris, intimate, that there is no reaſon for any nation to be alarmed at the intended match between the infant don Lewis of Spain, and the ſecond infanta of Portugal, as if a re union of theſe two crowns might one day be the conſequence of ſuch a marriage, ſeeing that Don Lewis has two elder brothers, each of whom have ſeveral children: But they acknowledge that ſome courts may reaſonably take umbrage at this match, becauſe a good ſettlement is intended for that young prince out of Spain; but, at whoſe coſt, is a queſtion which they ſay is not likely to be clearly reſolved 'till a rupture between ſome of the great powers of Europe.

Nov. 26. Laſt night there were very high debates at an honourable houſe in Weſtminſter.

Nov. 28. 'Tis ſaid an attempt will be made this ſeſſion to fix the breadth and quality of woollen cloths, in order to re-eſtabliſh their reputation at foreign markets.

This morning the eight Eaſt-Indiamen were to ſet ſail from Graveſend for China; we hear, that they have 1300 men on board in the company's ſervice.

Nov. 30. We hear that an officer of the Virginia troops is come over, in one of the ſhips that arrived this week from that colony, with diſpatches for the government, and alſo an account of ſome diſſentions and bickerings between the governor and the council, &c. of that province. The Tryton man of war was to have ſailed for England when thoſe ſhips left Virginia, but prevented by a quarrel that happened between the captain and a planter: The planter, it ſeems, gave the captain ſuch opprobrious language, that the latter could not forbear breaking his head Chelſea-College, corporation oath bill, and ſome private Bills.

Dec. 21. The right hon. the houſe of peers are adjourned to Thurſday the 9th of January next. And

The hon. the houſe of commons to Tueſday the ſeventh.

Dec. 24. They write from Hanover, that the two eldeſt ſons of prince Frederic of Heſſe are arrived at the univerſity of Gottingen, and that the princeſs their mother is expected at Hanover about the time of the king's arrival.

Extract of a letter from Goſport, Dec. 22.

'Friday in the afternoon arrived at Spithead from the Downs, his majeſty's ſhip Centurion, Capt. Mantell; and the ſame evening ſome of the men from the guardſhips were turned over to her, and it is expected ſhe will ſail this afternoon, or to-morrow morning; as will his majeſty's ſhip Norwich, Capt. Barrington.'

'On Wedneſday the Syren man of war ſailed from Spithead for Virginia.'

Dec. 26. On Sunday laſt died at Paris, the right hon. the earl of Albemarle. His lordſhip was groom of the ſtole to his majeſty, colonel of the ſecond regiment of foot guards, governor of Virginia, ambaſſador at France, knight of the garter, and great maſter of the order of Bath. The above account arrived by an expreſs this morning to his royal highneſs the duke of Cumberland.

Laſt night died, at his houſe in Brook-ſtreet, the right hon. the earl Gower, lord privy ſeal. His lordſhip is ſucceeded in his title and eſtate by his eldeſt ſon, lord viſcount Trentham, member of parliament for Litchfield

We hear a petition is preparing, and will ſoon be preſented to the hon. houſe of commons, from the merchants and traders of this city, humbly to repreſent the immenſe loſs the nation has ſuſtained by our trade to India having been for many years paſt carried on chiefly by the exportation of gold and ſilver, in bullion and ſpecie; a matter of the higheſt moment, and worthy a parliamentary inquiry, unleſs our whole wealth is to be converted into a paper currency.

Private letters from Francfort adviſe, that the landgrave William of Heſſe, who is gone from Hanau to Caſſel, will ſpeedily aſſemble the ſtates of the landgraviate, in order to inform them of prince Frederick's having changed his religion, and concert with them the moſt proper means of preventing the conſequences with which this event threatens the Proteſtant religion, and calviniſm in particular.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, Nov. 11.

'The earl of Albemarle having made repreſentations to our court, about the conduct of the French governors and commandants in America, and particularly concerning their late attempt on the lands occupied by the Engliſh and their allies towards the river Ohio; we are aſſured our miniſtry have anſwered, that the king being very much inclined to come into any meaſures that may put an end to diſputes in that country, his majeſty, as a proof of this inclination, was ready to ſend orders to the governor of Canada, and to the commandants of his other colonies in America, to ceaſe all hoſtile enterprizes whatſoever, provided, that the Britiſh court would diſpatch the like orders to its governors, to the end that both courts might afterwards labour in concert to adjuſt the points in diſpute, &c.'

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman now on his Travels in Pruſſia.

—— "I was this day at a review and exerciſe of a regiment of horſe, when his majeſty gave the word of command during the whole exerciſe; in one part whereof the whole regiment were to leap a ditch ſix feet wide: The king gave the command, and the principal officer was to lead the regiment; in doing which it unfortunately happened that he was thrown from his horſe on the farther ſide of the ditch; whereupon the king commanded a halt, then leap'd the ditch himſelf, and going up to the unfortunate officer, told him, 'He had a great regard for him, and was 'ſorry he had occaſion to tell him he ſhould never 'ſerve him more, for by his (the officer's) careleſſneſs he might have loſt a whole regiment, had they at Cork the 19th, being one of the ſhips bound for America.

On wedneſday, commodore Keppel ſet out for Cheſter, to take upon him the command of the fleet that lies off Cork, deſigned for North-America.

According to letters from Breſt, the two baſons that are building in that port are pretty forward: But they require immenſe labour, as it is neceſſary to build upon piles, to remove mountains, and to dry up almoſt inexauſtable ſprings. The new buildings for the cadets of the marine, and the barracks for the ſoldiers, are alſo carried on with the greateſt diligence. In ſhort, they are at work in every quarter of the town; and, in a ſhort time, Breſt will become both ſuperb and commodious.

December 3. It is talk'd that there will be ſeveral removals amongſt ſome principals in public offices.

Dec. 5. If we may depend on what they write from Francfort, the converſion of a certain young prince to the popiſh religion is likely to produce ſome extraordinary effects, as ſeveral expedients have been mentioned for preventing the inconveniencies that may riſe from thence to his proteſtant ſubjects.

Dec. 12. Laſt Friday all the outward-bound ſhips and the tranſports for Ireland ſailed from Falmouth; but the wind ſhifting, it was apprehended ſome of them would be forced to put back.

We hear that the right hon. the earl of Egmont will be appointed treaſurer of his majeſty's houſhold, in the room of the earl of Fitzwalter, who, we hear, will have a promotion in Ireland.

Dec. 14. Yeſterday certain advice arrived at the war-office of all the tranſports being ſafe.

We hear that the hon. Henry Fox, Eſq; is made one of his majeſty's cabinet council.

By a letter from Breſt of the 30th ult. we are informed, that a conſiderable number of forces, with warlike ſtores, had ſailed for Virginia about the middle of that month; and that 3 tranſport ſhips were then taking in ſtores, deſtined for the ſame quarter.

It is ſaid with ſome certainty, that his grace the duke of Bedford will go lord lieutenant of Ireland.

Dec. 17. We hear lieutenant-general Oglethorpe is to have a regiment on the Britiſh eſtabliſhment.

Dec. 19. This day his majeſty went to the houſe of peers, and gave the royal aſſent to the land-tax bill, malt bill, mutiny and deſertion bill, the bill for regulating the penſioners of knight of the Bath, will go Ambaſſador to France.

A few days ſince died at his ſeat in Berkſhire, aged upwards of 70, the hon. Charles Craven, Eſq; uncle to the preſent lord Craven. In queen Anne's time he was governor of the province of South-Carolina, but for many years paſt he has retired.

Dec. 28. It is thought that his royal highneſs prince Edward will be appointed colonel of the Coldſtream regiment of guards, in the room of the earl of Albemarle.

That the right hon. the Earl Powlet, firſt lord of the bed-chamber to his majeſty, will be appointed groom of the ſtole, in the room of the earl of Albemarle.
